BRONX, NY, August, 11, 2022– En Foco, a nonprofit dedicated to promoting diversity in photography, is looking for its new Photography Fellows. The 8th Annual En Foco Photography Fellowship is designed to support photographers of color from New York City or New York State who demonstrate the highest quality of work as determined by a photography panel of peers and industry professionals. To date, 65 fellows have been awarded the En Foco Photography Fellowship, adding diverse perspectives to the photo industry.

WHAT FELLOWS WIN?

The Photography Fellowship program will award 10 Fellowships at $1,000 each; include Fellows in a 2023 Group Exhibition; feature the Fellows in En Foco's 2023 Nueva Luz publication printed and online editions, and provide professional development and networking opportunities.

En Foco's Nueva Luz photographic journal, for example, annually highlights En Foco's Photography Fellowship recipients, a program En Foco considers a signature initiative: the direct financial support of artists. Each Fellow represents a unique personal perspective, and together, they represent a generation of cultural interpreters for our communities to appreciate.

WHO CAN APPLY?

- Photographers of Latino, African, Asian American heritage, and Native Peoples of the Americas and Pacific Islanders.
- Must be a New York City or New York State resident for the past year at the time of submission and must show proof of residency.
- Must be at least 18 years of age.
- Collaborating photographers are eligible to apply BUT only one photographer can submit the application.
- Previous fellowship recipients must wait three years before they can reapply.
- Photography for consideration must represent work completed after 2020.

NOTICE: Graduate or undergraduate students matriculated in fine art and/or photography degree programs at the time of application submission, and En Foco's Board members and staff are ineligible to apply.
